

SOCIETY

In honor of the anniversary of our state, New Mexico honors the flag today.

Since the days of the official adoption of the Stars and Stripes by the nation's prenatal travail, the secret emblem of home, valor and liberty has required ardent loving labor through its bloody baptism and travailing in the nation's tears.

Reunited with the thirteen stars of the original states comprising an inseparable tricolor again, the descendants of alien and domestic foes, of those who fought for all the stars and stripes, and just outside the pale of recognition, these two stars glow with the same patriotism, honor and worthiness lighting the stellar emblems of several states. Nothing daunted by repeated repulsion, these errant stars await the appointed time, knowing by reason of mature development they must soon be born. And in the mountain New Mexico and Arizona are now with the patriotic fire that lights the nation and illuminates a future of peaceful times to the sacred banner waving from the house tops, as the banners of soldiers are stilled with the reverential love pledged to uphold its honor, and entitling patriots even in the west a place in its stars fold.

A SONG FOR OUR FLAG.

—Margaret Saenger.

A bit of color against the blue;

Hues of the morning, blue to this

And red for the kindling light of

Name;

And white for a nation's stainless

name;

Oh, fling it out to the winds afar,

With hope in its every shining star;

Under its folds where ever found,

Thank God we have freedom's holy ground.

Don't you love it, as out it floats

From the school house, peal and glad young throats;

Sing of the banner that axe shall ne

Synd of honor and victory?

Don't you thrill when the marching feet;

Or jubilant soldiers shake the street;

And the bugles shrill, and trumpets

call;

And the Red, White and Blue over us all;

Don't you pray amid starting terrors

It may never be buried through ages

Long years?

A song for our flag, our country's pride;

That gathers beneath it a mighty host;

Long may it wave over the goodly land;

We hold in feeneath our Father's hand;

For God and liberty evermore;

May that banner stand from shore

to shore;

Never to lose those meanings lost;

Never with alien standards crossed;

But always valiant, pure and true;

Our starry flag—Red, White and Blue.

SHE SUFFERED FIVE YEARS

Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Erie, Pa.—"I suffered for five years from female troubles and at last was almost helpless. I went to three doctors and they did not cure me, so my mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken only two bottles I could see a great change, so I took six bottles and I am now strong and well again. I don't know how to express my thanks for the good it has done me and I hope all suffering women will give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It was worth its weight in gold."—Mrs. J. P. ENDLICH, B. F. No. 5, Erie, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it is free and always helpful.

Charles Frank's fine voice is receiving in the critical city of Gotham. Although pursuing her vocal studies under the direction of Victor Harris in preparation for greater work next year, Mrs. Frank's talent as a soprano singer has already placed her in the forefront of Gotham artists and she has been engaged as soprano soloist same time next year.

Gifted Singer to Return.

The return of Miss Lillian Elwood for a visit to the city, where she was for some time the heart and soul of entertainments, recitals, concerts and vocal instruction, will bring great pleasure to her numerous admirers in Albuquerque. Miss Elwood is the first soprano professor in voice culture in Knoe Conservatory of Music of Galesburg, Ill., where 250 students are enrolled.

Following will follow the conclusion of the present tour. The musical program will be under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Stevens Hinote and Wilson Bay Lewis.

This will be the second meeting of the Eastern Star for a complete rest before taking up conservatory duties again in the fall.

Camp Whitecomb.

Vacationists are awakening to the beauty and attractions of the resorts at their doors and the pilgrimage to California this year will not be so marked as the pilgrimage to the San Joaquin. Pilgrims returning from Camp Whitecomb declare the woods are filled with summer resorters and dotted with tents, while numerous guests are housed at the rustic inn crowning the hill at Whitecomb Springs. Dr. and Mrs. Shortle will be among the weekend arrivals at the camp, to remain several weeks. Another party will be Mrs. Bacon, Miss Luisa Bacon, Mrs. Setfield, Mrs. Oberholzer and the children of Mrs. Bacon.

Dance is Postponed.

The Thirty club dance scheduled for this evening in Odd Fellows' hall has been indefinitely postponed because of the death of Mr. Sturges, father of Lloyd Sturges, one of the members.

Christian Triumph.

The great day to which the public had looked forward eagerly the past three months is fast arrived, and in appreciation of prominence of the annual drama in St. Vincent's students this afternoon numerous social functions were deferred till next week. The Elks' theater was crowded this afternoon when the graduating class and medal winners of the academy were conferred with the diplomas and rewards of merit for the year's work. The Roman tragedy, "A Christian Triumph," now claimed the attention of the audience and elicited the salvoes of applause and even tears wrung from their hearts as the young hero emblacing portrayed in living realism the trials and triumphs of the Christians in Nero's time. The rich costumes sent by a Denver costuming house lent the crowning touch to the perfect presentation.

Miss Mary Kelly, as Marcus Superbus, the hero of the story, was arrayed in a gleaming coat of mail suited to her position of prefect of Rome. The splendid voice of Miss Kelly in the dramatic situations of the play brought out the emotions of a strong man enduring the soul conflict of contending convictions and the tenderness of a contrite convert and adoring lover.

The spacious rooms of the Bryan home were thronged with guests in the hours of the late afternoon when they enjoyed the treat of hearing Mrs. Collins' fine voice in the rendering of vocal numbers accompanied by Mrs. Kerzman at the piano. As soprano soloist in the Presbyterian church and concert singer when she resided in Albuquerque, Mrs. Collins' splendid voice was one of the best ever heard here and in the years that followed with the expert training received, her voice has developed a volume and sweetness that enchanted her hearers Monday afternoon. In the course of the informal reception Mrs. Bryan was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Johnson, Mesdames Setfield, Mrs. Hahn, Alfred Grandfield, Burkhardt, Louis Biedel, Misses Sue Dawson, Anna Grandfield, Hannah Nasbaum, Mildred Fox, Leila Hunning and Emma Schutte of Los Angeles. Misses Lina Hunning and Ruth Biedel dispensed fruit punch.

Nero was gorgeously robed in royal purple velvet, and looked most imposing beside the Empress Poppea, who wore a royal gown of wine-colored velvet.

Miss Stella Kelly as Bernice, a patrician lady of Rome, looked and acted the part perfectly, her gown being a graceful fashion of the time in white satin with Grecian border.

Miss Bertha Turner, clad in the brown gauze of the Christians, was ideal in her interpretation of the part of Stephanus, the Christian boy.

The beautiful dance by Miss Eleanor Vaughan was perhaps, the finest exposition of grace culture ever seen in the Shars' theater.

Sharing honors with Miss Vaughan, however, were the forty little girls who presented the Roman dance between the first and second acts. These fairies tincted with terpsichorean art danced their way into the hearts of every one present and elicited thunderous applause from their admirers.

As Tegellina, the prefect of Rome and opponent of Marcus, Miss Julia Keeleher was splendidly commanding and unyielding in her plots for his undoing.

Miss Anna Blake, as a Russian citizen, demonstrated the ability of a gifted dramatist.

Miss Bernice Hesseldein, gowned in an artistic robe of pale pink, was charming in appearance and character interpretation of "Lady Dutra."

Miss Helen Schmidt, as Favus, the father of the heroine, was specially fine.

Miss Georgia Lutz, the Christian messenger to St. Paul, was well suited to the part.

Miss Beatrice Armijo, a typical Roman of the day, could not have improved on the part, so splendidly carried.

Miss Goldie Spring, as a cruel accomplice of Tegellina, was truly villainous in the character.

The closing scenes when the imprisoned hero, Marcus Superbus, accepts Christianity, were most effectively enacted and each one present was impressed with the holy lessons of the masterful drama that was in every way a most brilliant success.

Graduation Ceremonies.

Six graduates from the Commercial college of the Immaculate Conception school will be awarded their well-earned diplomas in the Immaculate Conception church tomorrow evening. The choir has prepared exceptionally fine music and the ceremonies promise to be most impressive. The closing exercises of the school and that of St. Vincent's in the Elks' theater today marks the end of the school year in Albuquerque and brings the number of graduates from all the school to half a hundred.

Eastern Star session.

In the presence of 100 members of the Adash chapter, under the Eastern Star, under the supervision of the grand matron, Mrs. Blanche Majors, and three other grand officers, the beautiful ritualistic work of the order was exemplified at the recent session in the Masonic temple Monday evening.

With a membership of 100 and the order in prosperous condition with increasing zeal and loyalty to the high ideals of its faith, the local chapter is in the zenith of vital strength and attainment. After the exemplification of the work for the pleasure and edification of the members of the order, Mrs. Majors, whose name is known to all these credentials of merit, the ability and genius have been apparent in the development of talent in the large number of adult and juvenile students in the classes that Mrs. Stewart has turned over to the care of other teachers here.

As a pipe organist, Mrs. Stewart is a recognized artist, though an enforced rest for her left arm has prevented residence in this city hearing her play.

Hamlin will address the congregation on the topics of "India" and "Alaska."

Mrs. Seivert to Entertain.

The ladies of the Gold and Broadway church will be the guests of Mrs. W. H. Seivert, 219 South Arno street, tomorrow afternoon at a thimble party, when the products of their industry will be for the benefit of the treasury of the Aid society. Bazaar roles and a quilt will keep the fingers of these workers busy during the afternoon.

Mrs. Oberholzer Hostess.

At the parsonage of the Lutheran church this afternoon the ladies of the Aid society entertained at another of the enjoyable social "coffees" for which these ladies are famed. Mrs. Oberholzer was assisted by several ladies of the society in the reception of the guests.
